Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Monday 05 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Heavy rain or showers for many. Windy in the south.

This Evening and Tonight:
Heavy rain in the southwest extending north across England and Wales by dawn. Further heavy showers following. Elsewhere heavy showers becoming confined to the far NW by midnight with clear spells developing. Becoming windy in the south with coastal gales.

Tuesday:
Sunny spells and rain or showers, again some heavy, the best of the sunshine in the south and west. Coastal gales in the southeast easing by afternoon but remaining breezy.

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Showers will be fairly widespread and heavy with a risk of thunder on Wednesday, but will become increasingly confined to eastern areas through Thursday and Friday as temperatures slowly recover.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.